

BRYAN GREATEST TEACHER IN WORLD, ASSERTS GAYNOR

Helped Progress More Than Any Man, Says Mayor at Church Meeting.

BOUQUET IS RETURNED.

Gaynor Always Had Courage to Speak Out for Right, Says Nebraskan.

William Jennings Bryan and Mayor William J. Gaynor talked to a large audience in the Grace M. E. Church last night. Mr. Bryan delivered his lecture on "The Signs of the Times."

The Nebraskan was introduced by the Mayor, who flooded him with compliments and called him "the greatest teacher in the world to-day."

"Mr. Bryan ran three times for the presidency but was not elected," said the Mayor. "But that does not mean that he was not successful, for the man who is elected is not always the successful one. I have known some who would have been more successful if they had been defeated. When you are elected your trouble begins."

"Bryan was not elected, but he was successful in helping the men of his generation more than any man I know of to take a few steps forward, and that is as successful as a man can be."

"Mr. Bryan has advocated reforms in politics, and though he has not come to office, these reforms have gone forward because they have had merit in them. In this way he has combined the great office of a statesman and that of a teacher."

Mr. Bryan thanked the Mayor for his expressions of good will and said he heartily reciprocated them. He said he was surprised at the largeness of his audience, as so many persons were here at heart as broken members of their disjoined families are about to be.

"It is not so long since I myself was a shipwreck," he went on, "and I can appreciate the frightful moments which intervened among the passengers after the striking of the iceberg."

Mr. Bryan referred to the Mayor as having stood up for him often—as a man who was not afraid to be his friend when he needed one.

"In the office of Judge as well as Mayor, Mr. Gaynor has had the courage to speak out for what he has thought right," Mr. Bryan went on. "This city is fortunate to have a man whose sympathies are on the side of the people."

He known the Mayor for a great many years and he always knows that his heart is on the right side.

Mr. Bryan then went on with his lecture. He urged reformers not to be discouraged if their own particular reforms did not become successful, but to look for others as well. He announced his belief that the world is making progress rapidly in intelligence, morality and appreciation of popular government.

He said the world in all its important advances in population, which has taken place in this country, Mr. Bryan said, is a near approach of the election of a statesman by popular vote.

He said, however, that the direct and Presidential primaries are a low during publicity of campaign.

IN MOTHER'S ARMS KIDNAPPED BOY TELLS HIS STORY

Little Joe di Fiore Talks of Lions, Woods and "Cousin Jimmie."

Six-year-old Joseph Di Fiore, pale and hollow-eyed but happy, sat on his father's knee in their home at No. 123 West Houston street last night and tried to explain where he had been in the three weeks he had been missing from home.

Mrs. Di Fiore held his hand and coaxed him to tell the story of his wanderings. It did not vary from the one Joe had told in Police Headquarters Wednesday night after he had been found by two boys in East New York.

The man calling himself "Cousin Jimmie" was the child's abductor and constant companion, Joe maintained. At the house in the woods, which Joe says he never left for fear of the lions his kidnappers told him were there, he was sure there were three other boys and a woman called "grandma." In the house to which he was first taken there was one boy and a different woman. Joe was positive that the place where "Cousin Jimmie" left him Wednesday night and where he was found, on Sackman street near Sutter, was only a few blocks away from the house in the woods.

"I never paid a cent for Joe's return," said Costino Di Fiore, the boy's father. "Only my deep grief over his disappearance—perhaps my poor knowledge of English—could have given the detectives the impression that I suspected any relatives of taking my boy away. No, we've no idea who took him."

"Our family doctor looked Joe all over," said the mother, "and said he was all right except for a bad cold and an upset stomach from eating poor food. What he needs now is plenty of good food—yes, and lots of mothering. Don't you, Joe?"

Her arms opened and Joe blithely slid into them.

Mildy's Toilet Table
By Mrs. D. M. LEE

Or get some treatments for the hair, the therapist says seems to be the most satisfactory by far. There is something about it totally different from any other treatment, and the hair responds so quickly. It is a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar and add the contents of a small original package of theros, shaking well together. Apply a little on the head and brush thoroughly. It makes the hair wavy, glossy and lustrous.

To have a fair and lovely skin, to retain the attraction of youth, to keep the complexion clear and beautiful—the face, neck and forehead should be massaged every morning with a lotion made by dissolving a small amount of theros in water in a half-pint witch hazel. Use this instead of powder. It does not clog the pores, it keeps the skin smooth, soft and satiny.

Sometimes a sore may be slow in healing. In cases like this the lotion is good to use, for it is antiseptic as well as healing and tends to prevent blood poisoning. It quickly heals cuts, burns, scalds, etc., and will also cure chaps, cold sores, pimples and skin eruptions when not caused by constitutional trouble.

No woman can be flattered by wild hair or heavy eyebrows. They will vanish quickly if theros is used. It is applied, with a brush, to the hair, and water is poured over the hair surface, and after two or three minutes the hair is washed, and the hair will be gone—advt.

25 SUICIDES, 8 HOURS; NEW WORLD RECORD.

Twenty St. Petersburg Men, Women and Children Take Poison—Five Drown.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 18.—On the night of March 18 no less than twenty-five persons committed suicide between 10 o'clock in the evening and 6 o'clock in the morning. This is a world record in self-destruction. Most of these people took their lives by means of poison, twenty preferring this method to drowning, which was adopted by five. The loss in the canals of the city is melting and the five victims were found in the water the next morning.

The suicides were of various ages and of both sexes. Twenty were of the poorer working class and five were "intellectuals." Among the number were women and girls, ranging from seven-teen to twenty-five years of age. Ten men of twenty to thirty-five were victims of the craze for self-destruction. While three were mere school-boys.

The police say that the famous suicide club formed some months ago and now having branches in all the large cities is indirectly responsible for this wave of self-destruction, although the club claims to disdain suicide except as a "sport" and forbids members to take their lives for love, jealousy or poverty.

Clothes from Maker to Wearer

Moe Levy My $20.00 Suits at $12.50

Here's One on the Mill

Slight fabric imperfections are responsible for this very unusual early season price cut. In the last stages of manufacture we found slight errors in weave in 237 of my men's $20 suits. The mill was called to task and, sooner than take the suits, made us an allowance that enables us to sell these $20 suits at $12.50.

While it would be practically impossible for the average person to notice the slight errors in weave, I have had these 237 garments separated from the rest of their "$20.00 brothers."

Remember, however,—these garments are made and styled up to the standard of my regular $20.00 suits and represent the biggest buying opportunity I have been able to offer my customers in some time. My $20 line has always meant unusual value at the price. The quantity is limited—better get one of these $20.00 suits while they last at $12.50.

But don't forget my regular line of "up-to-the-minute" clothes—which are priced from $10 to $35. My being a manufacturing retailer and my location out of the high-rent district allows me to price my clothes at least 1/3 lower than the same quality can be had from the regular retailer.
